

WHY TRANSPORT INSURANCE?

The transport insurance coverage becomes effective as soon as the goods are removed from the place where they were previously stored in execution of a transport contract. Coverage ends when the goods reach their destination at the place designated by the consignee (place of delivery). Within the scope of the transport insurance, the All Risk cover applies. Upon special request, additional coverage inclusions or the coverage for Limited Cover may be chosen. Coverage for transport insurance is arranged by agreement upon conclusion of the transport contract. Insurance protection and premiums are extremely attractive.
